President to Name Draft Director Soon

FUNDS NEEDED TO PAY COST OF HUGE PLAN

FDR and Congress Prepare To Clear Way For Conscription.

REGISTER OCT. 16

Army Promises Publicity To Every Draft Step So As To Avoid Abuses.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Action to clear the way for operation of the nationwide conscription program commanded first attention today as President Roosevelt returned to the capital and congress made ready to resume sessions.

Before the United States can launch the great peacetime undertaking which begins with the registration of 16,500,000 men on Oct. 16 three essential preliminaries required disposition

1. President Roosevelt must promulgate the regulations governing the administration of the draft machinery enrollment classification and selections of trainees their induction into service and kindred matters

2. The director of the selective service system must be appointed by Mr. Roosevelt and confirmed by the senate as provided in the conscription law.

3. Congress must take action on the pending $2,000,000,000 special defense appropriation request, which is to defray the expenses of registration and conscription.

President Roosevelt was expected to order into effect, possibly tomorrow, the first two of six volumes of regulations already prepared to cover all phases of the draft program. These first two sections define the nature and administrative procedure of the national and state organizations which will handle the Oct 16 registration, and also set forth the rules for enrollment

Mr. Roosevelt was expected to announce his choice in a few days for the position of draft director

The house of representatives, in recess for three days because of the death of Speaker Bankhead, already has the conscription financing appropriation on committee calendar, and committee consideration will start tomorrow.

Denied Her Bid To Screen Credit With Bromfield

The name of Mansfield's famous son, Louis Bromfield, crept into federal court in New York City today as a Hollywood writer was denied credit for writing the story of the film play "Brigham Young."

Federal Judge Samuel Mandelbaum today denied the motion of Eleanor Harris, scenario writer, for an injunction to restrain 20th Century-Fox Film Corporation from exhibiting "Brigham Young" without giving her screen credit along with Bromfield, who wrote the screen play.

She asserted she sold the company a manuscript upon which the film is based, and that she should receive equal screen credit with novelist Louis Bromfield, who wrote the screen play.

Judge Mandelbaum said in his opinion that the film company employed her as a scenario writer at $75 a week, that it was common to revise original stories for the screen and that certain parts of her contract barred her from demanding screen credit

Bromfield spent three months in Hollywood last spring writing the play.

Batter Up, And Prove Those Brags

Four City Hall Teams to Tangle at Employe Picnic.

Challenges have been served. Accusations have been made and boastings have been in the air. But tomorrow it will be settled once and for all

Officers of the police department will meet city councilmen in a three-inning baseball game at North Lake park in the feature event of the city employes' picnic. The winner is scheduled to play the city firemen in a similar contest and the winner of this second game will meet an "all-star" team made up of players from various other city departments.

The city legislators challenged the bluecoats to the contest several weeks ago. Although no official answer was made the cops have been doing a lot of boasting about what 'we'll do to those boys"

City hall will close at noon and it is expected that approximately 120 city workers will be on hand to witness the contests. A picnic supper will be served in the pavilion at 5 p. m.

George Berg, playing manager for the legislators, has already submitted his lineup for police inspection The cops have 10 players mustered but it hasn't quite been decided what positions each will play

Lieut. Bruce Friday is the probable starter on the mound for the Bluecoats. The assignment behind the plate has not been made.

Warns Sons of Revolution On Emergency 'Short Cuts'

Warning of the "short cuts in an emergency" which threaten the principles and procedures of democracy, Loren E. Souers, Canton, president-general of the national society of Sons of The American Revolution, told a Mansfield audience last night that this country is confronted with serious danger within as well as from without

Souers, a Canton attorney, appeared on the Constitution day program of the Constitution chapter of the S A R which followed a dinner-meeting at Westbrook Country club About 80 attended the observance, including wives of chapter members members of the Mansfield D A. R. chapters and their husbands, heads of the various patriotic societies and Mayor W. J. Locke

"These are days when we need to talk straight and to think straight," Souers told his audience. "There are so many counter currents at work to undermine and subvert the principles and procedures which make up the American way of living and of government. Constitutional liberty is on trial for its life, both from without and from within."

He said that we are living in a world of dark fears and hatreds, today and that faiths that men once had never doubted are being shaken, and that because of

READY TO TAKE NEW METER BIDS

City Advertises Tomorrow For Equipment, After Throwing Out First Quotations.

Advertising for new bids on the city's proposal to lease 500 parking meters for a nine months' probation period will be published tomorrow, Service-Safety Director C M Crafton said today.

This will be the second time that bids have been asked. Mayor W. J. Locke yesterday ordered the rejection of all previous bids submitted by seven firms, charging undue pressure exerted by various persons and groups on behalf of various types of machines.

Locke said that he had reason to believe that by asking for new bids the city would be able to obtain more advantageous proposals.

Crafton said today that this might possibly mean lower bids from the same companies that had previously bid, but added that "he doubted it." He said he hoped that the new advertisements would bring in bids from other companies. The first bids ranged in prices from $33 to $65 per meter, two companies offering automatic meters and five manual control meters

The new bids will be opened Oct. 7, Crafton said. Rejection of all of the first bids will mean a delay of several weeks in installing the parking meters

Sheriff Long said he and his deputies would bring all the pranksters they capture into juvenile court where they will face charges of malicious destruction of property

"We're going to head this thing off right now," he asserted.

AXIS PROTEST ON DESTROYER TRADE HINTED

Von Ribbentrop Confers With Mussolini and Ciano on War Policies.

SPAIN PLANS ACTION

Adherence to Axis Likely To Get Approval as Result of Rome Meeting.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop left for Rome today to confer with Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Count Ciano and German sources indicated that the exchange of 50 United States destroyers for air and naval bases on British possessions in the Atlantic probably would be among the subjects discussed

Spain and Egypt—both of extreme importance in the present conduct of the war—were expected to be the prime subjects of the conversations

But one German source indicated that the Rome-Berlin Axis powers were concerned over the destroyer transaction.

Spain, it was indicated, wishes to play a more active part in the affairs of the Rome-Berlin axis, but is militarily unable, and economically in a poor way. Yet her geographical position, plus her natural resources, are such that she is a desirable Axis partner.

From a usually reliable source it was learned that the Rome conference is likely to result in giving legal expression to Spain's adherence. This may be in the form of a secret treaty, but may also be indicated in a public pronouncement.

Italy's invasion of Egypt is regarded here as a factor of importance in the further conduct of the war The Suez canal is one of the choicest objectives of Italian participation in the war, and the Ribbentrop visit is likely to clarify to what extent, if any, Germany is to assist in the attempted conquest of Egypt.

That German troops are ready to go to colonial areas is generally known. Vaccinations of volunteers for possible colonial service has been an order of the day The presence of German mechanized volunteers in Ethiopia has also been disclosed in the German press.

Massed Raiders Turned Back In Terrific Battle

Sky Over Channel Coast Appears Full Of Planes as Germans Send Huge Armada to Attack London; RAF Bombs Harbors.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—London's sixth air raid alarm since dawn sounded today at 5:10 p. m. (11:10 a. m. EST).

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—British fighter pilots and ground gunners met Germany's aerial armada today in a great battle east of London and were reported to have turned back the full power of one of the greatest assaults thus far pointed at this heart of the British empire.

The British press association said that the attackers were beaten off in a terrific engagement over the Thames estuary while off-alarmed Londoners sought shelter in the fifth alarm of the day.

Three formations of twin-engined bombers flying at 15,000 feet and escorted by swarms of Messerschmitts—about 300 planes in all—crossed England's first line of defense, the channel cliffs, and drove toward smoking, battered London

The sky at the channel coast seemed to an Associated Press observer to be full of planes Exhaust from the high-flying motors traced an eerie eccentric pattern across the sky

At one time this witness counted 200 separate wisps of exhaust vapor.

The massed raiders roared toward the Thames estuary and London, anti-aircraft shell explosions flowering their way When they were well inland the British fliers made battle contact.

The rattle of machine-guns and aerial cannon echoed from high in the clouds and the formations broke up into a countless series of dog-fights

Britain, in full awareness that 11 consecutive nights and days of such aerial assaults might be a prelude to attempted land invasion, announced new RAF smashes at potential jump-off points on the continent shore.

About the time the British and Germans were tangled in the battle of the Thames estuary the air ministry announced that the RAF's medium bombers yesterday afternoon scored direct hits on harbor installations at Ostend and ships at Zeebrugge, both Belgian ports

One raider attacked four barges off the continental coast and hit two of them, the communique said, while others bombed a convoy off The Hague, The Netherlands, and a new airdrome at Ymuiden, The Netherlands

In today's big thrust at London, following a record night attack, Germany's bombers were vastly outnumbered by their escort of sharp-nosed Messerschmitts The exact number of bombers was undetermined, but observers said the fighter escort was probably the largest ever sent to protect such a small number.

British Hurricanes and Spitfires, hovering on patrol at altitudes even higher than the Germans' 15,000 feet, dived on this armada over the Thames estuary, timing their attack to coincide with the full blast of the British ground defense.

An early report on the results of the quarter-hour melee said that six German planes were shot down

The government said it feared casualties from the night assault "may be heavier than in recent nights" as Nazi bombers battered all sections of the city.

Direct hits were scored on the stores of D. H. Evans and Co., general drapers, John Lewis and Co., noted for its silks, and Bourne and Hollingsworth, women's, and

BRAVE: Londoners Display No Sign of Fear; Writer Says

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
(By International News Service)

LONDON—Gales are checking Adolf Hitler's invasion plans and the fuehrer is getting nowhere with his assaults upon London.

Because as we could all observe today in the fourth week of mass attack Londoners and the English people in general stubbornly, invincibly—even stupidly, if you like—refuse to become afraid.

They are afraid neither of his bombs nor of his invasion

Paris was afraid when it wasn't even touched compared with the hurts of London I know, because the Paris fear infected all of us there

There is no such feeling here after 28 days of cruellest punishment At this moment the 99th alarm of the war has sounded, and as I write the terrifying scream of sirens floods our ears But nobody halts work and somewhere next door a radio continues to broadcast a jolly Scottish tune.

Everybody knows there is absolutely no real security against Hitler's indiscriminate bombing because every section of London has been hit. But everybody realizes that by now there is no use of worrying

Now the west as well as the east ends of London, the rich as well as the poor, are getting it and the rich are proving they can

ADVANCE: Italians Storming Toward Major Test In Egypt

(By Associated Press)

CAIRO—Italian invaders, storming along the Mediterranean coastline of Egypt's western desert, moved closer today toward an impending major battle with British defenders on the vital roadway to Alexandria

Where the British would make a stand remained a military secret British operations thus far, it was said, have been designed to harass rather than halt the two motorized Italian columns leading the eastward drive

Despite sandstorms and temperatures ranging up to 120, the Italians for four days have advanced from the Libyan border to positions beyond Sidi Barrani, 60 miles inside Egypt, reaching the start of an asphalt road leading 350 miles to the Suez canal, vital link of Britain's empire lifeline.

The next objective presumably is Matruh 100 miles further along the coastal road and site of a British air base.

Between Sidi Barrani and Alexandria lie 250 miles of rough going for an invader, and the British command—while conceding that the Italians have moved swiftly and efficiently so far—does not regard their present position as a serious menace.

British tank units have retired before the Italian sweep after inflicting heavy casualties, British

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I NODDED to Miss Whitlock, crumpled her written message, and put it into the hand she held out for it. Then I bent over Edith, put my hands upon hers, pulled them away from her face, and spoke, quickly, imperatively.

"You will not be with the rest, Ede," I said with slow emphasis. "You and Miss Whitlock are going to have my little study off the library."

"Oh!" she gasped with sudden comprehension.

"The rest of us will be in the library," I went on, "but nobody will see you, or disturb you. I promise you that."

She drew a long sigh of relief, and relaxed against her pillows. Miss Whitlock laid her hand upon Edith's pulse, then took them away, and I knew there was no immediate danger of a collapse. Then she put a quick, brief question.

"How soon can we go down there?"

"Immediately," I said, "and I have something else to tell you. It will not be necessary for you to come up during the day. The little study is safer than almost any other room. The windows are heavily barred."

The nurse threw up her hand in a gesture which was in effect a salute.

"If Mrs. Bickett has seen to everything," she commented, "then our new quarters are indeed in readiness."

It was the generous recognition of a colleague's skill, but Edith evidently harbored a more disturbing thought.

"Oh! will Katherine be there—or Lillian?" she asked frantically.

"No, neither of them," I assured her calmly.

"I-I couldn't stand having them near me," she said childishly. "They hate me. I can see it in their eyes. And I can't blame them. They're your friends, and they think I've tried to hurt you. And I have, but not any more, Madge, not any more, and you're the only one I want near me."

I felt that I would be glad—and relieved—if she would extend her prohibition to me. But I smothered the thought promptly, and then Miss Whitlock stepped into the breach.

"Do you want Mrs. Graham to go away immediately?" she asked sternly.

"Oh! no, no," Edith whimpered.

"Then please do not speak again unless you are asked a question," she said. "Close your eyes, and relax as much as you can in preparation for your moving out of here."

Edith obeyed her promptly, at least as far as closing her eyes went, and Miss Whitlock turned to me.

"Would it be possible for you to give me the next ten minutes?" she asked. "Indeed, I am sure what I wish will not take that long."

"That is why I am here," I replied, "to aid you in any way I can."

"Then, if you will pack Miss Fairfax's belongings in these bags," she indicated Edith's luggage — "and put her street gown, her hat and her coat on that big chair, I will pack mine, and leave the room completely clear."

I made the mental comment, that while she could have learned nothing of Philip Veritzen's impending arrival, her intuition must have told her I would need the room for another occupant. But I had not time for theories, and packed Edith's belongings carefully while Miss Whitlock attended to her own belongings. I knew that she as well as I, was watching to see if Edith's passive acquiescence in our plan would continue, or if she would stage another emotional outburst.

IT IS a sad kind of carelessness which causes a declarer to ruff a trick with a high trump which later is likely to be needed for a trump trick. The waste of it for that purpose sometimes sets up a secondary trump of the opposition which otherwise could have been captured.

At the other table, declarer took the first trick in dummy, lost a diamond, took the trump return in dummy, ruffed a diamond with the spade 9, ruffed a club with the spade 2, played to his heart A, ruffed a second club with the spade 4, led to the heart Q, dropped the last trump with the A, led to dummy's two good hearts and so had a total of ten tricks.

CHAPTER XXI

Luncheon on the terrace beneath the striped umbrella was a gay affair. Even Edwina's account of her decision to sell the house and give away the library and valuable furniture and pictures was gay and gave on hints of events which had led up to her decision. Yet all the while she spoke she was conscious that Dick listened with a divided mind and when Mary brought out the dessert she was intensely curious to know what had brought him hurrying from New York.

They lingered over cigarets and when Norman snuffed out his, the last, in the glass ash tray, Dick said, "I don't want to interfere with your work, Edwina, your good deed, but business of a very confidential nature brought me and I'd like a few words with you alone. You don't mind, Norman?"

"Not at all. I'll get back to packing the books."

Edwina said, "If it has to do with me and my creditors, I'd like Norman to stay. He knows my affairs as well as I do."

"It has nothing to do with you or Norman."

When Norman left Edwina turned to Dick, her eyes uneasy. "What it is all about? You scare me. It is about me, isn't it? What have I done? I hope I haven't murdered somebody in my sleep . . ."

"Stop worrying. You haven't done anything. I simply want to ask you a few questions, and it probably isn't at all necessary to add that this is strictly confidential. Something has happened here in Newton which made me see red, drop everything and get here as fast as I could."

Leaning forward, he clasped his hands on the edge of the table and asked, "Edwina, how well do you know Alan Harding these days? You spoke of him when you were in New York and I gathered you had seen him this summer. I didn't arrive this morning. I arrived last night and stayed at a hotel in town. This that I have to do here is one of the nastiest jobs an attorney has ever had to tackle . . ."

Edwina did not know why she was on guard against Dick. She sat back in the chair away from the protection of the umbrella and shielded her eyes from the sun with her hand. Disjointed thoughts and questions revolved wildly 'round and 'round in her mind.

"Please explain, Dick," she said quietly.

"I'll try. Yesterday I received a letter written in pencil and written obviously by an illiterate person. But to go back . . . Some years before I went to New York, I was attorney for John Hartley here. You must know him, Edwina. He used to own the old hardware store down on Center street. Everybody knew him . . ."

"Of course I knew him. I went there with my father when I was a child. He was an old man then. And he's still living?"

"Living, yes, but blind. He sold the store but he still lives in rooms above it with an old colored servant. It was the colored servant who wrote me. I learned last night when I saw Mr. Hartley . . . Alan Harding is the old man's attorney now and Alan Harding, Newton's promising and highly respected young lawyer, has been cheating Mr. Hartley in connection with rent collection and investments for more than a year. The old man got suspicious recently — he's still shrewd — and began checking up. He found that some of his old tenants — he has large real estate holdings — had moved, that Alan had rented the places to new tenants, increased the rents and was pocketing the increases. We call that embezzlement . . ."

"It means . . ."

"Jail, disgrace, the end of him as a lawyer. And the filthy business is up to me."

"And Mr. Hartley . . ."

"Oh, the old man is terribly broken up about it. Cried last night. Oh, lord, it was pitiful! But he's going to press charges. Wants Alan exposed. The old man is angry and hurt, and he can be tough. Trusting Alan, he turned everything over to him and paid him fairly for his trouble . . ."

Jail, disgrace, the end of him as a lawyer . . . She felt a little sick — as you feel when you see a dog run down . . .

Dick said, "I left my New York address with Mr. Hartley when I went to New York and told him if he ever needed me to let me know. You remember him, Edwina. He had the reputation of being a kind old miser."

She said slowly, "I once broke something in his store. Dad wanted to pay for it but Mr. Hartley wouldn't let him. Stealing, deliberately stealing, and robbing a defenseless old man . . . But how did Mr. Hartley find out about it?"

"By calling in some of his tenants and talking to them. He hadn't checked up before. Simply had left everything to Alan. He hadn't had any complaints because all the complaints went to Alan."

"Have you seen Alan?"

"Not yet. I dread this business, Edwina, but I asked for it when I told the old man to let me know if he ever needed me."

She felt curiously rigid — as if she couldn't move. "But where do I come in, Dick? Why did you want to see me?"

"Because I could tell you the whole thing and ask you a few questions and trust you not to talk outside. Of course the lid will blow off and everybody will know about it. 'Alan Harding embezzler.' Can't you see it? But tell me what you know of Alan from observation this summer."

She looked down at her hands and continued to stare at the chipped nail polish on her left thumb while she spoke.

"He appears to be very prosperous if that's what you mean. I've seen him only once or twice. He's a member of the country club and you always hear his name mentioned when Newton people speak of up and coming young men. And he's — he's going to be married soon. Dick, this will kill that girl!"

Still looking at the chipped nail polish, Edwina said, "The night I saw him at the club I noticed that he had changed. There was something about his eyes. I suppose it's a look you get when you're afraid of being found out. I imagine I've looked like that a good many times recently and didn't know it . . ."

Her eyes came up. "I'm glad I'm going away. I don't want to be here when it breaks. But why did he do it? Why? He didn't have to. He didn't have to steal! He's made a name for himself. I don't understand why he did it, Dick . . ."

He smiled. "Why does anybody steal — those who have and those who haven't? To get more if you have, and to get what you can if you haven't. Some people can't get rich fast enough. In Alan's case it was probably that. Simple, wasn't it, robbing a man who couldn't see, a man who had implicit faith in you, an almost childish faith?"

"I haven't helped you very much."

"It was just a chance you could. I didn't know how frequently you'd seen him or talked with him. I knew you'd help me if you could because I knew you didn't have any great affection for him. It was obvious when you mentioned him that night in New York. I've never quite understood that situation with you and Alan. But no matter . . .

"Last night I dug out facts and this afternoon I hope to dig out more. Two of Mr. Hartley's old tenants are co-operating. They're hopping mad. You know, public sentiment is going to be very strong in this case. In spite of Alan's popularity, nothing is more appealing to a jury than a blind old man who has been robbed."

Her eyes burning, she came under the umbrella again. "How do you feel about it, Dick?"

"Last night I was hopping mad, too. I've cooled off a bit. I'd like to be out of it and on my way back to New York, but my sympathy for Mr. Hartley will make me stay and see it through."

He sat back in his chair. "I've saved a surprise. After I left Newton and Alan took over Mr. Hartley's affairs and the old man became attached to him, Mr. Hartley called in still another attorney and made a new will, voiding the one I had drawn up for him leaving his estate to old friends and charities. The new will, which Alan doesn't know about, is in a box at the Equitable Trust Company. In it Mr. Hartley leaves everything to Alan . . ."

She winced. And because she could no longer be still, she arose and walked about the terrace, adjusting the belt of her dress and touching her hair nervously. It was Alan's turn now to know defeat and shame and disgrace — as she had known it. But why wasn't she glad with the gladness of one avenged at last? The fates had a queer, slow way of "righting" things. She remembered Alan at the club that night in early summer, his coldness, his superiority, his well-cut mouth sneering at her. Carol Tallant had probably never seen him like that. Alan had never let her see him like that. But she couldn't be glad. Her thoughts were beating one against the other and she felt sick and heavy and sad.

She said finally, "What a pity! What an awful, awful pity . . ."

"Yes, isn't it? If Alan just hadn't been greedy. Well, I've got to be off."

"Where are you going now?"

"To see Mr. Hartley. He's leaning on me now. Thanks, Edwina."

"I haven't done anything."

"It was good to talk about it to you, to some one. I'll stop in and say good-bye to Norman."

Light Prepares Plans for Ohio Home Defense Force

RECRUITS FROM OUTSIDE DRAFT LIMIT WANTED

New Organization to Take Place of National Guard Units.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—The adjutant general's office has drafted plans for a "little national guard" or home defense force of 130 officers and 2,100 enlisted men to protect Ohio against civil disturbances after the National Guard is transported to out-of-state training camps.

When the plans will be transformed into reality is uncertain. Adj. Gen. Gilson D. Light said today that federal legislation probably would be required.

The defense force undoubtedly would be equipped with federal arms, as is the present guard, and federal recognition would be required. Practically every piece of equipment implementing the present guard force of 818 officers and 10,712 enlisted men will be removed to the training camp.

The home defense plans call for six battalions of infantry with headquarters in state-owned armories at Columbus, Cincinnati, Lima Toledo, Cleveland and Akron; a signal unit at Columbus; transport companies at Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati; a chemical warfare unit at Toledo, and service companies at Cleveland and Columbus.

The personnel naturally would consist of recruits from outside the federal draft age group of 21 to 35 years.

Approximately 8,500 of the regular guardsmen will go to Camp Shelby, Miss., Oct. 15. The remainder of the state's military force is expected to go to other camps.

Should Ohio have use for military help before the home defense force is organized, it could call on the naval militia, composed of about 1,000 men, General Light said.

Meanwhile, Gov. John W. Bricker was reported considering the appointment of General Light as director of selective service under which 850,000 male residents of Ohio between the ages of 21 and 35 will register for the army draft Oct. 16.

General Light was known to prefer entering field training with his national guard troops.

Col. Harry D. Jackson of Circleville was considered a possible choice for state medical examiner in the draft.

Gardner Attends Capital Meeting On Home Defense

R. B. Gardner, retiring commander of the Ohio department, American Legion, left today for Washington to attend the first official conference between officials of the war department and the American Legion on home defense.

The meeting will be held Thursday and Friday at the war department building. Plans will be mapped for organizing the Service of Security, to take the place of the National Guard while this branch of the service is in training.

Gardner said that among subjects to be discussed would be the instructors' personnel for the Home Guard and equipment. While the Home Guard will be under the direct control of state governors, equipment will be furnished by the federal government.

Gardner recently was appointed laison officer of the Fifth Corps Area, to co-ordinate efforts between the area Legion commanders and representatives of the four states in the area—Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Representing the area at the Washington meeting will be, besides Gardner, state Legion commanders from the other states and representatives of each of the four governors.

LEAGUE OPENS

The Women's bowling league will launch its 1940-41 season at the Meder Recreation alleys at 6 p. m. Thursday, it was announced today by circuit officials.

Among the teams participating in the loop this season is the Richland Printer outfit, defending champions. Thelma Lunster, one of Mansfield's leading feminine bowlers, will captain the Printing club this year.

It looks like a publicity gag by the Warner theater boys in Mansfield, but it is really on the up and up. They are going to show the picture depicting the lives of the Dalton boys, famous outlaws, at one of their theaters here soon. The first names of three Warner Brothers managers in Mansfield are Frank (Harpster), Bill (Dworski) and Gratton (Johnston). And what are the names of the three Dalton boys who were the hellers of the gang? You've guessed it—Frank, Bill, and Gratton.

Visitors in the Boy Scout office yesterday morning were somewhat puzzled over the presence of a trio of tearful women. They seemed to have just experienced some tragic occurrence, but it developed that the three—Mrs. Floyd Dent, Mrs. Milton Layer, and Mrs. Richard Widders, all sisters—had just attended the wedding of their cousin, Dorothy Stephenson, to Walter Rouse. They had come to the scout office to have a good cry over the wedding.

DOUBLE WHEAT PLAN ACTIVITY

Twice as Many Farmers Sign Up in County for Federal Loans, Taylor Reports.

More than twice as many Richland county farmers have obtained federal wheat loans so far this year as in all of 1939, with loans granted to 101 farmers as compared to only 43 last year, Guy L. Taylor, county AAA chairman, said today.

Loan grants authorized under the AAA program this year amount to $18,236. Total wheat loans in the county last year were $7,267. Loans have been granted on 23,102 bushels of wheat this year as compared to 9,680 bushels last year.

Loans are being made this year at the rate of 75 cents per bushel for No. 1 wheat and 74 cents for No. 2 grain. They are available only to farmers who complied with the AAA wheat program this year.

The method of obtaining loans has been simplified this year, Taylor said. Farmers eligible for loans only have to take their wheat to an elevator, obtain the warehouse receipt and return it to the county AAA office which grants the loans. It is possible for the farmer to get his money the same day at a bank cooperating with the government in handling loans.

Loans will be available until Dec. 31 and they will be granted on wheat stored in approved bins at home as well as in elevators, Taylor said.

The loan system is designed to enable the farmer to hold his wheat for higher prices.

2 DRIVERS FINED

Arraigned in Galion After Arrests By Highway Patrol.

Two motorists, arrested by highway patrolmen Sunday, were fined in Mayor W. H. King's court in Galion yesterday.

'NO NEW TAXES' REPORTED MAIN PLANK FOR OHIO REPUBLICANS

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio Republicans assembled today to approve a state platform reported tentatively to include a pledge of "no new taxes" and an accusation that former Gov. Martin L. Davey, Democratic candidate for a third term, is "insincere" in his promise to repeal the state's three per cent sales tax.

Platform drafters started their work behind locked doors last night in preparation for the one-day state convention embracing a full quota of business and speech-making.

Major Norman A. Imrie of Columbus, editor and lecturer, was the temporary chairman and keynoter. His address was the feature of the morning session.

In its tentative form, the platform also pledged the party to carry out the "letter and spirit" of a law enacted by the recent special session of the legislature establishing a $40 monthly maximum for old age pensions to be distributed on the basis of need.

The Democratic state platform calls for a guaranteed income of $40 a month for old age pensions.

Despite the support of Highway Director Robert S. Beightler for a plank opposing diversion of gasoline and liquid fuel tax revenues, the platform makers were reported to have decided against such a commitment. The Ohio good roads federation asked party leaders to oppose the diversion.

The platform will be considered by the resolutions committee this afternoon and probably will be presented for adoption tonight.

Selection of 26 presidential elector candidates also was on the convention's business slate.

Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati will preside at the afternoon session when candidates will be introduced. Speakers include Lieut. Gov. Paul M. Herbert, Rep. Frances P. Bolton of Cleveland and Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins of Ironton.

Speeches of Gov. John W. Bricker and Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, U. S. senatorial nominee, at the evening session will be broadcast statewide.

STRIKE ENDED

Huntington Gets Bus Service After Week of Walking.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. —(U.P.)— Huntington residents could ride to work in public buses today following settlement of a week-long transport employes strike.

The Transport Workers of America (CIO) voted last night to return to their jobs with the Ohio Valley Bus company after the firm discharged three members of an AFL union in partial submission to CIO demands.

The strike was called a week ago Tuesday when the company refused to dismiss 19 members of the AFL union. This violated a closed shop CIO contract, the strikers said.

Status of the remaining AFL men employed by the company was in doubt.

PRESIDENTIAL OK PLACED ON $34,000 GRANT

Start of Work to Depend on Assignment of Workers; New Main To Be Built.

Approval by President Roosevelt today of a $34,000 WPA grant to Mansfield signalled the way for the construction of a $68,000 water improvement program.

This was disclosed yesterday by Congressman J. Harry McGregor of West Lafayette in a letter to Mayor William J. Locke informing officials here that the grant had been sanctioned.

Council has already appropriated $28,000 to finance part of the city's share of the cost of materials for the project. It is expected that additional appropriation will be made from water department surplus to complete the purchase of pipe.

Actual construction hinges only on the approval by WPA officials in Columbus of job schedules already prepared for the project, City Engineer W. C. Statler said.

The project, the first major improvement in the water distribution in two years calls for the extension of a high capacity main on Cook road and Lexington avenue to the mercantile district.

Completion of the job, city officials say, will pave the way for a survey of the city's water system by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, and possible reduction in fire insurance rates.

The proposal calls for construction of a 16-inch line on Lexington avenue from Blanche street to Mendota, South Mulberry street, Glessner avenue, Crouse street, Weldon avenue to West Dickson avenue where it will connect to a new main on West Fourth street.

Part of recommended extension planned by consulting engineers three years ago, the project will furnish approximately 70 WPA workers with employment for about three months.

John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the organization said plans had been completed today for entertaining the membership at a fellowship gathering at 4 p. m. after which they will be entertained by a group of CCC youths from the Rocky Fork camp.

He said other features would include horseshoes and bridge with prizes to be awarded to winners and runners-up.

The committee in charge of arrangements is headed by O. C. McCormick. The grove is on Marion avenue road beyond Alta. Signs will be posted to direct traffic.

Tigers Take Turn In Lead In Tight Pennant Race

Tribe Plays Nats

Club Faces Washington's Best Hurlers In Twin Bill Today.

CLEVELAND —(AP)—The Indians might have coasted somewhat in today's ticklish twin bill with Washington if they hadn't skidded out of first place yesterday.

Instead of earning a rest before invading the Tigers' lair at Detroit Friday, they dropped their second straight one-run decision—4 to 3—to Connie Mack's Athletics.

Oscar Vitt's in-and-outers will find a couple of tough customers on the mound for the Nats today and another in the game tomorrow which winds up 1940 hostilities with the Senators.

Southpaw Ken Chase, who frequently puts the old whammie on the Tribe, and Sid Hudson, prize Washington rookie, were Bucky Harris' selections for today.

Both have beaten Cleveland three out of five this year. Even worse, Vitt was faced by the necessity of saving Bob Feller and Mel Harder for the Detroit series which will have a more direct bearing on the American league dog fight, so Johnny Allen and Joe Dobson were his nominees.

Sports Writer Gordon Cobbledick suggested in the Plain Dealer today that Baseball Commissioner Landis investigate why Manager Harris didn't use Hudson in the final game against Detroit yesterday.

"Bucky Harris has three good pitchers, and only three," Cobbledick said. "In Washington's series with the Tigers, which ended yesterday, he used one of them, Dutch Leonard. . . . In the series with the Indians he will use all three, Leonard, Ken Chase and Sid Hudson. . . . Hudson had his normal rest and could have pitched against the Tigers yesterday, but Harris saved him for the Indians. . . . Maybe Judge Landis ought to ask why."

Bill Beckman scattered Cleveland's nine hits and made three of the nine Philadelphia blows to send the Indians a half game behind the Tigers.

The home club might still have won, but Right Fielder Dee Miles made a sweet running catch of Hal Trosky's 400-foot liner with two on the bases in the seventh inning to end the Indians' last threat.

THE Alta Lumber company softball team concluded its 1940 schedule by nosing out Rowsburg by a score of 7 to 6 in a game under the lights at Rowsburg last night.

By taking this tilt the Lumber combine closed its season with a record of 21 wins against nine defeats. The Lumbers held a 3-2 lead until the sixth frame when Rowsburg scored six runs to take a 6-3 advantage.

The Lumbers came back in their half of the eighth to score three times giving them the one run lead by which they won the game.

A feature of the game was the relief pitching of Joe Wentz who took over the mound duties in the sixth after Rowsburg scored their four runs. Dale McKinley started on the mound. Smith worked on the mound for the losers.

Redlegs Can Clinch Title

Vander Meer to Handle Pitching Duties.

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—It may be reserved for Johnny Vander Meer, the hero back from exile, to officiate at the formal clinching of their second straight National League pennant by the Cincinnati Reds.

Johnny, double no-hit king of 1938, is today's pitcher against the Phillies and if he wins and the St. Louis Cardinals obligingly give the second place Brooklyn Dodgers the other barrel, the trick is done, mathematically and otherwise.

Johnny, of course, can hardly expect willing cooperation from the Phils and Hugh Mulcahy in his comeback effort, but he has won one of his two starts since returning from Indianapolis and may be on the way.

Whitey Moore, another fair-haired boy who hasn't lived up to all his promise, put Cincinnati this close to the flag yesterday by pitching the Reds to their eighth straight victory, a 2 to 1 job over the Phils and a game that was tough for Kirby Higbe to lose.

Whitey, as he often is, was hot and but for a wild throw by Billy Myers would have had a shutout. He gave the Phils five hits, all singles, and laid them down in order in five of the nine innings.

Two of these singles, one a scratcher, and Myers' heave gave the Phils their run in the sixth.

For a time that looked like the ball game but in the eighth Frank McCormick whipped a double down the left field line. Jim Ripple scorched him to third, and Jim Wilson batted him in.

Rookie Danny Litwhiler of the Phils, who had hit safely in the previous 21 games for a season league mark, also had his string broken, me without the aid of Myers, though. Danny thought sure he had a single in the ninth but Myers came up with it and threw him out to make up for the error and save Moore a worry or two.

SUPPLIES OPEN SUNDAY

Coach Earl McMullen's Automotive Supply semi-pro football team launches its 1940 season by invading McKeesport, Pa., Sunday to clash with the McKeesport Olympics. Last year the two teams battled to a scoreless tie. The Supply lineup will be announced in Thursday's News-Journal.

Colonels Win First Contest

Hand Columbus Team 5-4 Beating in Play-off.

(By Associated Press)

Pennant-winning Kansas City and second place Columbus tossed their ace pitchers against the opposition last night in the opening of the Shaughnessy playoffs, but it was lost effort.

Minneapolis' third-place club banged out a 5 to 2 victory over the blues and fourth-place Louisville brushed the Red Birds aside, 5 to 4.

Don Hendrickson started for Kansas City but failed to last two innings, giving way to John Lindell, who also was sent to the showers by the Millers' 10-hit attack.

At Columbus, Murry Dickson went the route but the Colonels solved him for 10 hits, including Art Parks' fourth-inning home run, one of three tallies in that inning.

The Red Birds bounced back to tie the score at 4-all in the seventh, but Louisville pushed across the deciding run in the eighth on Fred Sington's double and an error by Bob Repass.

Rams Set for Davey O'Brien And Philadelphia Eagle Club

LEVELAND — Coach Dutch Clark of the Rams will stress pass defense and placekicking this coming week in preparation for Sunday's league opener with the Philadelphia Eagles. The Cleveland Rams showed plenty of power as they rolled over the Chicago Indians by a score of 38 to 0 in an exhibition game last Saturday night at Steubenville.

Scoring in the first four minutes of play on a sustained 88 yard drive, the Rams went on to pile up a 32 to 0 lead in the first half. It took exactly ten running plays for the Cleveland National League entry to garner its first touchdown. The starting lineup scored once more in the first period on a pass play Hall to Rodak.

The brightest part of the victory came in the second quarter as the first replacements took over. The reserves, Cleveland's main weakness last season, proceeded to score 20 points before the half time gun. Ken Heineman, diminutive substitute for Parker Hall, and Marty Slovak, first replacement for Johnnie Drake, were the spearhead's of the Rams' attacks. Heineman's bullet-like passes found their marks time on time, and he reeled off two 25-yard runs, while Slovak scored two touchdowns and played a slashing game.

The line play of the reserves brought words of praise from Dutch Clark. Stan Anderson, recently obtained from the Cardinals, played a terrific game at the left tackle post. Jack Haman looked good at center, and the rest of the line, listing Kinek and Patt at ends, Clay at the other tackle, Matheson and Rockwell at guards, broke through the Indians forward wall consistently.

The Rams wil not scrimmage this week, but will place a lot of emphasis on timing. In this second exhibition game of the 1940 season the Rams showed much improvement over the first game in which they defeated the Midwest College All Stars 29 to 0.

Dutch Clark will devote most of his time in preparation for the game with the Eagles to pass defense formations. The Rams are getting ready to knock down as many of Davey O'Brien's aerials as possible. In Sunday's Green Bay-Philadelphia game O'Brien completed 18 of 40 passes as his team fell short of victory, 27 to 20.

Following the Philadelphia game this Sunday, the Rams will journey to Detroit to meet the Lions, Sept. 29, and then will return home to battle with the Chicago Bears, Oct. 6.

The best Rams in Cleveland history will trot out onto the field Sunday at League park to do battle with Davey O'Brien and company. The Rams have become stronger and stronger with each succeeding season in the National Professional Football league, and this year you may hear great things from the Clevelanders.

Hold ½-Game Advantage In Hectic Battle

Detroit Defeats Washington, 6-3, While Cleveland Loses to Athletics.

By JUDSON BAILEY, Associated Press Sports Writer.

THE DAILY BULLETINS on the American league's feverish pennant fight are about as informative as those that hospitals give out on patients—like "condition unchanged" or 'resting comfortably."

There is nothing anybody can do about it, though, because nobody in the world knows which of the American league patients are going to live and which are going to die.

The Detroit Tigers triumphed again yesterday and exchanged places at the top of the league with the Cleveland Indians, who lost. The New York Yankees ended a losing streak to move up 3½ games from first place and the Chicago White Sox were idle.

Out of this jumble anything can happen. Here is the way they stand:

Club	W.	L.	Pct.	G.B.	T.P.
Detroit	82	60	.577	..	12
Cleveland	82	61	.573	½	11
New York	78	63	.553	3½	13
Chicago	78	65	.545	4½	11

The victories of the Tigers and Yanks were somewhat marred, because Schoolboy Rowe, while getting credit for his 15th victory, developed shoulder trouble and retired before Detroit finished a 6-3 triumph over the Washington Senators, and Joe DiMaggio of the world champions hurt his game leg again as the Yankees walloped St. Louis 9-0.

DiMaggio acquired a charley horse and dropped out in the second inning at St. Louis after driving in three runs. He hoped to be ready to return to duty today, but wasn't sure.

All the American league contenders were booked for doubleheaders today and needed their full strength desperately.

Cleveland's only casualty was its 4-3 loss to the last place Philadelphia Athletics.

Detroit was outhit, 7-6, and held scoreless after the third inning, but a four-run send off in the first was all the Tigers ever needed. Rudy York's 29th homer with one on was surplus. The Yanks made ten hits and benefited from four St. Louis errors while Atley Donald kept six safeties scattered.

In the National league the Cincinnati Reds came within a single game of clinching their second straight pennant. With Whitey Moore pitching five-hit ball they endged out the Phillies 2-1 to take an 11-game lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who were shut out, 5-0, by the St. Louis Cardinals and have only 11 contests left to play. Max Lanier was the fellow who handcuffed the Dodgers, allowing only five hits.

The Chicago Cubs put on a six-run uprising in the eighth inning and beat New York 9-8 to extend the Giants' losing streak to nine games. In the big blow, Hank Leiber homered with two on and Manager Gabby Hartnett delivered a pinch double with the bases loaded.

Boston's Bees copped a free-hitting battle from the Pittsburgh Pirates 10-5 by means of a four-run flurry in the first frame and another five-run roundhouse in the eighth.

Final Coon Chase Set

County Association to Stage Affair Friday Night.

The final coon chase of the season, sponsored by the coon division of the Richland County Fish and Game Protective association, will be held Friday night at Spiker's grove, five miles southwest of Mansfield on state route 545.

The event is scheduled to get under way at 7:30 p. m. and all profits will be used for restocking. Entry fee will be $1 and 100 per cent of entry fee will be returned to winners, according to announcement.

* * *

Trophies will go to the final tree and final line dog winners. These trophies have been donated by Mansfield veterinarians, Dr. S. E. Taylor, Dr. Ben S. Henson, Dr. C. C. Wadsworth and Dr. R. H. Wadsworth.

Lunch and refreshments will be served on the grounds.

FLORIMAL SETS 2 WORLD RECORDS AT DELAWARE

DEWAWARE —(AP)— Florimal, brown filly owned by Arden Homestead of Goshen, N. Y., set two world's records for the half-mile track as a four-day Grand Circuit race meeting opened yesterday.

With Harry Pownall at the reins, Florimal won both heats of the $2,500 two-year-old trot in the cumulative time of 4:17, three-quarters of a second better than the old record held by Calumet and Laramite. The time for the second heat—2:08—was 7.5 seconds faster than the previous world's record for two-year-old fillies.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—This is the time of year when any sports-writer worth his salt and hard up for an idea suddenly realizes the importance of selecting his baseball "bests" of the year, beinning with the managers and ending with the understudies for the batboys.

In determining my standout manager of the year I gave each of the 16 major league bosses careful consideration. I wrote their names in red chalk on the living room wall—Terry's over the goldfish bowl, McCarthy's by the stuffed owl, McKechnie's directly over the horn of the gramaphone, Frisch's over the table which holds the stereoptican slide, Cronin's by the whatnot full of sea shells, Vitt's under the picture of Jesse James being shot in the back, and so on until all our lovely pieces had managers' names by them.

I scored each solely on his merits. Terry got a mark for beating out the Phillies; McCarthy two for losing two successive doubleheaders to the Browns, no mean feat; Cronin three marks for his optimism in referring to his pitchers as pitchers, and so on down the line.

The final tally showed Oscar Vitt the winner, the outstanding manager of the year, and if only for the benefit of Alva Bradley and Cy Slapnicka, I will explain why.

I gave him five big marks right off the bat for taking the job as manager of the Indians.

He got three more for resisting the temptation to hit his pre-game fungoes toward the Indians' dugout instead of toward the outfield. But he didn't hold these three marks very long because, on second thought, I took them away from him for having resisted this temptation.

Then, with a majestic sweep of my chalk, I gave Vitt 22 merit marks which lifted him to victory.

I awarded them to him for pure managerial genius, and please don't try to tell me that he hasn't got it.

His team has led the American league most of the year and today, only half a game out of first place, is a good bet to win the pennant.

He has accomplished this despite the fact that his team listens to only half of what he has to say, and obeys only about a tenth of his commands. Every other manager in baseball has the complete ear and obedience of his team, while Oscar has to depend upon a few desperate shouts of advice as he is being pushed out of his team's private meetings.

What if the team had listened to him all of the time? It probably would have won the pennant by now, and had a few weeks of leisure in which to cook up a dislike for next year's manager.

Speaking of the 1941 Cleveland manager, there is a report going around that despite Vitt's troubles this year there are many men who want the job. Could this be because of the conscription stipulation that men with dependent children are not going to be called for duty?

KROMER TO PLAY

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(INS)—Paul Kromer, Lorain, O., halfback, today had one less worry. The former running mate of Tom Harmon in Michigan's backfield was declared scholastically eligible.

ISSUES KEEP RISING TODAY IN STOCK MART

Carry on Movement of Three Previous Sessions; Bonds Are Irregular.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Rising currents continued in evidence in the stock market today, carrying on the movement of three previous sessions.

Reaching higher levels were U S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas, United Aircraft, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison and Chrysler.

Bonds were irregular. Commodities generally moved a bit upward. Market analysts, seeking to determine relationships of share prices, earnings and production, noted their comparative statistics were running into the period of high activity which followed the outbreak of the war a year ago.

What some quarters took to be an indication of how industry might meet the important price quality questions developing in building expansion came in announcements by two important building material firms that present prices would be maintained as long as possible.

GREAT AERIAL BATTLE WAGED OVER BRITAIN

RAF Fighters Beat Off 300 Nazi Planes in Fight East of London.

children's wear, all in Oxford street of London's fashionable Mayfair.

A bomb also has fallen on the lawn of historic Westminster Abbey, cress from the houses of Parliament,and blasted out a crater, it was disclosed.

"Large scale" raids on German shipping concentrations, barges and communications along the German-held channel coast and on "certain targets" in Germany was announced by the air ministry, as the RAF massed its weight against Adolf Hitler's invasion preparations, once more acute with the blowing out of yesterday's channel gale.

Sunshine replaced mist and rain over the straits of Dover as a gale which held Adolf Hitler's invasion fleet in continental ports blew itself out. A fresh breeze kept the channel seas rough, however, and weatherwise fishermen forecast more heavy winds before long.

The first German planes which appeared over London by daylight apparently sought to survey damage left by the night raiders, but were driven away by British fighters and anti-aircraft guns.

During succeeding alarms Londoners heard renewed gunfire and the drone of planes overhead.

The first four morning daylight raids totaled 98 minutes.

It was disclosed that the famous Lambeth Walk market place had been struck three times in a recent raid. Two bombs fell in a narrow street behind the shopping center and the third hit a shop in the market place itself.

Londoners were kept in their shelters for nine hours and 54 minutes until the all clear signal at 6 a. m. (1 a. m. EST). The longest previous raid lasted nine hours and 40 minutes Sept. 8-9.

Renewal of daylight raids today marked the start of the fourth month of daily air attacks on England which official reports indicate have caused almost 13,000 civilian casualties, including at least 3,333 deaths. The heaviest toll came in the first 15 days of September during which Prime Minister Churchill announced yesterday, 2,000 civilians were killed and 8,000 injured.

At least 12 German planes were shot down during the night and three British planes were lost, the air ministry announced.

London Subways Reported Hit

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN — The German high command reported today geared-up attacks in the battle of London which Nazi airmen said had wiped out entire blocks in some eastern districts of the British capital and apparently smashed through to the city's subway system.

Daylight reconnaissance showed a yawning, smoking crater which was believed to be the result of a tremendous direct hit on an underground railway, according to DNB, official news agency.

(London uses underground railway stations for bomb shelters.)

The high command announced an all-caliber bombardment, within the past 24 hours of day and night action, of the West India, London and Victoria docks, water and gas works, railway stations and Croydon airdrome, among "war-essential objectives."

(The Bow railway station and the Thursten road junction were bombed last night and a number of British planes destroyed at Tilburg and Gravesend, according to the German radio.)

The British were said to have lost nine planes yesterday against the Germans' four.

WILLKIE HITS AT THIRD TERM

Declares Thousands Could Be President; But No One 'Indispensable.'

America has produced thousands and tens of thousands of men who are qualified to occupy any position of trust.

"There are thousands who could make as good a president as I can or as good as Franklin Roosevelt.

"Yet there is one man in this country who says 'I am the only man who can lead this country.' Frankly, I don't believe it.

"If it were just a question of an individual, perhaps it would not be so important. But don't you all realize that the democratic process is facing its most severe test?

"Look abroad in the last year —country after country has fallen before the onslaught of totalitarian doctrine.

"There is no argument anyone in this audience can advance to me in favor of a third term that I can't take and make out of it a better argument for a fourth term.

"Over and above the fact that it would be a betrayal of the democratic process is the fact that the president has power almost unbelievable and there surrounds the president of the United States a group anxious for more power.

"If you elect President Roosevelt and he appoints the Tommy Corcorans and the Benny Cohens who have been running around for the past seven years throwing monkey wrenches into the economic machinery" — Willkie waved expressive hands.

Willkie began hammering at the president's third-term drive with his speech at Amarillo, Tex., yesterday. The southland, he declared there, faces a conflict on two great traditions, one of traditionally voting Democratic and the other tradition that no American president shall seek a third term.

"So, I put it up to you very frankly, people of the southland," Willkie said. "You have two great traditions. There is complete conflict between them and you must measure which you hold most sacred. And if there was ever a time in the history of democracy when we should preserve all of its forms and all of its traditions, it is now."

During the course of his Albuquerque speech, he first set the stage with the third term issue and then attacked New Deal spending as 'the worst drunken spending orgy in the history of the country.' He also criticized the increasing federal debt, continuing unemployment and the conduct of the national defense program.

"We have a public debt approaching 50 billion dollars," he said. "If you elect this administration to another term, the public debt will rise. Elect this administration and you'll have four more years of depression.

"We cannot pile depression on depression, debt on debt and have this democracy survive."

Willkie Radio Address Set

ROOSEVELT TO SPEAK FRIDAY

Plans Counter-Attack Upon Willkie In Address at Philadelphia.

Pennsylvania where he will receive an honorary degree.

But before he leaves the capital he will receive progress reports on plans to register 16,500,000 men for selective military training, may sign an order setting up the formal machinery of a selective service board, and witness a ceremony in which Jesse H. Jones wil join his cabinet as secretary of commerce.

Jones probably will be sworn in Thursday. It will mark the complete reorganization of the president's cabinet—Jones being the fifth new member in recent months. Only Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins remain of the original 1933 cabinet.

The Jones ceremony will mark the first time that a cabinet member has held a high administrative, non-cabinet post, too.

Jones, under a special act of congres, will retain his position as federal loan administrator, but will draw only the $15,000 a year salary to which he will be entitled as secretary of commerce.

The presence aboard the special train of Judge Samuel Rosenman of New York, who since Mr. Roosevelt first became president in 1933 has been his closest advisor on major speeches, led to speculation that Mr. Roosevelt was planning an address for Friday of more than casual significance. Rosenman was with the president during the days immediately preceding his historic address accepting a third term.

Primaries Favor Incumbents

(By Associated Press)

Tuesday's primaries in New York, Wisconsin and Massachusetts turned out generally favorable for congressional incumbents, returns indicated today.

Although the voting offered new hints on the national political trend, some observers believed that the apparent defeat of John J. O'Connor in New York's 16th congressional district was an indication of President Roosevelt's popularity in that district. O'Connor, former chairman of the house rules committee, was "purged" by Mr. Roosevelt in 1938. The incumbent, Rep. James H. Fay, won the Democratic primary. William Pfeifer, the Republican.

Rep. Hamilton Fish, author of the 60-day delay amendment to the conscription bill, won Republican renomination in the lower New Ydrk state district which includes President Roosevelt's home at Hyde Park.

Right and left wing factions both claimed victory in New York's American Labor party contest but the counting of votes was delayed until today. The left wing opposes a third term for Mr. Roosevelt.

In Wisconsin, Fred H. Clausen, small town manufacturer, was ahead in the Republican senatorial race, in which the late Dr. Glenn Frank, who was killed Sunday night in an automobile accident, polled a strong courtesy vote. Sen Robert M. LaFollette, jr., running for ronomination as a Progressive, was unopposed. James E. Finnegan led the Democratic senatorial candidates with John Cudahy, ambassador to Belgium, running fourth. Cudahy's name had been entered at the last minute and was not on the ballots. The three parties' gubernatorial tickets were led by: Gov. Julius P. Heil, incumbent, Republican; Orland S. Loomis, Progressive, and William R. Callahan, Democrat.

In Massachusetts, Attorney General Paul A. Dever was conceded the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Gov. Leverett Saltonstall, seeking renomination, was unopposed on the Republican ticket. Sen. David I. Walsh was unopposed for the Democratic nomination and Henry Parkman was unopposed as the Republican senatorial candidate.

FEAR UNKNOWN TO LONDONERS

Writer Says Paris Panic Not Repeated in Capital of Britain.

take it as well as the heroic working class of Limehouse and Mile End road.

To get a picture of one sector of London today picture yourself in a large department store in your town. Visualize it hit from ceiling to cellar by an enemy who blindly dropped two Molotov "breadbaskets" filled with incendiary and high explosive bombs.

You realize as you watch firemen flooding blackened walls five stories high that this would be accounted by an insurance company as a total loss amounting to many millions.

With the other spectators you laugh as you see firemen staggering out with female show-window dummies, clad in the latest cute underwear. You are amazed to see adjacent shops already within a few hours of restoring their window glass.

Would this sort of bombing make you feel like surrendering?

Would you say: "Let's give up in order to save other stores?"

London's answer was violently negative as its citizens watched smoke pouring from John Lewis' department store, one of the largest high quality stores in the world.

This sort of destruction certainly is not going to win the war and today after touring the city's principal markets I can testify that the German radio's claim that the Luftwaffe is gradually starving London is simply imbecile.

If there is any shortage in Covent Garden, London's biggest and most famous market, it's invisible to the naked eye.

GIVES WARNING ON 'SHORT CUTS'

Canton Official Speaks Here at Constitution Day Meet of Sons of Revolution.

this our whole system of government is being challenged.

Souers referred to the Constitution of the United States as the "greatest of all human achievements" and the "greatest accomplishment ever struck off in a given time by the mind of man."

"The mental giants who conceived that document were inspired by the throwing off of the yoke of oppression which had denied men their civil and personal rights. Into that document they imbedded a carefully thought out plan of self-government which they believed would provide for every emergency, and which would circumvent the future attempts of any one man or any group of men to set up again an autocracy for the oppression of free people. It provided for three branches of government; it guaranteed citizens the right to think and to speak as they pleased so long as they did not foster resistances to the constituted government; a free press which would have the right to criticize the men who deviated from this plan of government," he told his audience.

"But today in Europe none of these rights and personal liberties exists. We have seen the rise of three dictators who hated democracy and who set out to impose totalitarian principles upon all of Europe at least. All of them used these 'short cuts in emergencies' to rise to power. And if we in America are to preserve our heritage of a free government, then we must be equally determined to abide by and adhere to the methods by which we have risen; we must not follow the 'short cuts in emergencies' as set up by the dictators."

The national president-general was introduced by Rev. Grover E. Swoyer of Mansfield, former president of Constitution chapter and now president of the Ohio society of S. A. R.

John Shook, president of the local chapter, who presided at the meeting, said that although this unit is only four years old, it already has two officers in the the state society—Rev. Swoyer, and Clark Garber of Butler who is state historian.

Eight new members were given their certificates by President General Souers. They were Claude Phipps and his two sons, Russell and Robert, Robert Galbraith, Grover Swoyer, jr., all of Mansfield; Paul Kopp, Ashland; Nelson Beem, Loudonville; and Hempel Neer, Bellville.

Music for the program was provided by two junior students of the Hazeltine-Hall studio, Wanda Hess and David Weimer. Miss Hess sang three songs, "Into The Night," "The Wind" and Guion's "Prayer." Young Weimer at the piano gave Rachmonioff's "Prelude," "Sparks" by Moskowski, and a Chopin waltz.

DIRECTOR FOR DRAFT NEEDED

Appropriation to Pay Cost of Program Placed on House Calendar.

post is Lieut. Col. Lewis B. Hershey, who has been virtually a "career man" in conscription. He is the executive officer of the joint army and navy selective service committee, which has been engaged for 14 years on draft plans, preparations and training.

Two other names to figure in speculation are those of Col. Louis Johnson, recently resigned as assistant secretary of war, and Major General Allen W. Gullion.

The draft director will receive $10,000 a year.

Meanwhile, in a move to enlist public support for conscription, the army's selective service officers disclosed adoption of a fixed policy to give full publicity to every step in the draft process.

The names of men who register, the order in which they become liable for service in the subsequent draft lottery and the names of men whose service is defered all will be published and broadcast to the fullest extent. The public scrutiny is expected to discourage any draft abuses or "chiseling."

The war department sought quick action on legislation affording more deft relief to citizen soldiers. Officials emphasized their proposal would grant no automatic moratorium on debts. In general, the war department plan would grant courts wide discretion to halt foreclosures and evictions, treating each case on its merits. The veterans administration would be empowered similarly to deal with cases of insurance premiums which the soldier was unable to pay.

The soldier would not be freed of his obligation to pay after he returned to civilian life.

Word Picture Of Camp Shelby.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Here's a brief long distance, telescopic view of Camp Shelby, Miss., where 9,500 soldiers and officers of the Ohio national guard go into a year's training next month:

It is located in the southeastern corner of Mississippi, near Hattiesburg, a city of 28,500 population. The Gulf of Mexico is 65 miles south. New Orleans is 150 miles southwest and Columbus, O., is about 600 miles northeast on a straight line.

The camp, 12 miles south of Hattiesburg, embraces 5,100 acres with additional ground available for artillery maneuvers. The topography is flat and broken only by creeks and woods.

Average winter temperature is 51 and average summer, 80 degrees. The camp had the best health record of any U. S. army division during the World war. Artesian wells, 400 feet deep, have a daily water capacity of 420,000 gallons.

Permanent facilities of the camp are being rapidly expanded but most of the Ohio guardsmen will be quartered in tents to accomodate the sudden growth of the camp which normally quarters 3,600 men.

APPEALS COURT CONVENES WITH 11 CASES READY

Flowers Estate on Docket In Two New Appeals; Sewer Ordinance Challenged.

With 11 cases on the docket the Fifth district appeals court convened today at the courthouse in a session expected to last at least two days

One case, involving a request for a writ of habeas corpus for Mrs. Mark Kirkendall reached the court too late and probably will be dismissed without question

Mrs Kirkendall who was convicted on a liquor charge, has already served her sentence in the county jail and has been released The appeal was filed after Common Pleas Judge C H Huston refused to grant a writ for her release several weeks ago

One of the cases involves the estate of the late Jacob Flowers which has been disputed in county, district, and state courts for several years

Two separate appeals were filed in the Flowers case by the Richland Trust company administrator of the estate, which at one time amounted to nearly $30,000 The dispute is over whether the late John Flowers will or that of his wife also deceased shall determine distribution of the estate

The court is also scheduled to hear an appeal filed by Mrs Druzella Gatton Mansfield, who sought a court order holding that she was not obligated to pay the Mansfield sewer rental charge along with the water service bill

Judge Huston held previously in common pleas court that the sewer rental ordinance was legal and that the city had the right to shut off both water and sewer service to a home for non-payment of the sewer charge.

Other cases on the docket include:

B. W. Eddy appellee, vs Harold Geitgey and Frank Kuentz appellants in damage suits which resulted from an automobile accident.

Beryl Henderson appellee, vs Jance C Stroup appellant executrix of estate of Levit Crider, deceased

Montgomery Ward company appellee vs James Gatton and Druzella Gatton

Minnie Richards appellant vs Harry C O'Brien appellee

Clarence Kerr, by Iza Kerr, appellant, vs Industrial Commission of Ohio

More Power and more miles per Gallon

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

YOU'LL like the size of this trim new Buick SPECIAL for '41—its room, its softer ride, its Permi-firm steering, its fresh smart style and all that.

But what you'll go for is what happens under that broad bonnet—the thrill and the thrift you get from that husky, big, 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL* Eight.

For in each flame-packed cylinder of that silk-smooth power plant a flaring ball of fire is set off with each spark-leap.

Packed to higher compression than ever before, fuel gives up more power and more mileage — power when you need it, economy throughout the whole driving range.

Indeed, so great is the power at your command that at 30 you use only one-eighth of the energy at your disposal. All the rest is there waiting for pick-up, hill-climb and sudden getaway.

Even at 50 you use less than one-quarter of your available power, and at 75 still have nearly half "on call" for emergency use.

More than that, to this engine you can likewise add Compound Carburetion—and step up both power output and your mileage. At 30 you'll get nearly one and one-half more miles per gallon, at 50 almost two, and at 70 an extra mile and one-fifth.

But that's just one side of the story—the facts side. Only one thing will give you the stirring feel of Buick's thrill-packed behavior on the road.

That's a demonstration — and it's yours for the asking. When will you be in to ask for it?

*Standard on the Buick Special, a supercharged Buick Eight of fine performance and economy at a remarkably low price. Ask about the "FIREBALL"

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1940.

Watching progress on a WPA project, it seems inconceivable that the world was created in six days.

Latest tabulation reveals there are 100 women in the country to every 97 men—which may account for an idea that the majority rules.

At the half-way point in September the ominous thought intrudes that the limited number of days until Christmas will soon be the subject of daily reminder.

Greatest Human Achievement

MAINTENANCE of America's democracy, as established under the Constitution, was strongly emphasized in a talk given in Mansfield last night by Loren E. Souers, president general of the national society of Sons of the American Revolution.

Wise provision for separation of functions of government into the three branches—executive, legislative and judicial—was stressed by Mr. Souers as being essential to the preservation of balanced government designed to safeguard human liberties.

Speaking at a Constitution day meeting planned by Mansfield's Constitution chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, President General Souers credited the United States Constitution as being "the greatest human achievement of all time" and noted its provisions to protect the people of this nation against the oppression common to autocratic rule, and from which they had sought escape.

Warning against "short cuts in emergencies," Mr. Souers spoke of present national dangers from internal causes as well as from outside attack on democratic principles and urged close adherence to constitutional principles in progress toward adequate defense as well as in the normal processes of government.

With representatives of a number of other local patriotic organizations in attendance, this meeting served as fitting observance of Constitution day in Mansfield and officers and members of Constitution chapter, S. A. R., are to be commended for the fine spirit of patriotism thus evidenced.

Danger In Pursuing Speeders

CONGRATULATIONS to Patrolman William M. Colby, of the Mansfield police department, on his escape with slight bruises from a collision that might have caused serious injury—possibly death.

Colby, as you will recall, was on motorcycle duty Monday night and chased a speeding motorist east on West Third street from Penn avenue to Mulberry. The officer's speedometer registered from 50 to 70 miles an hour during the pursuit—ON A STREET WHERE THE LEGAL LIMIT IS 25 MILES AN HOUR!

At Mulberry there was an abrupt slow-down by the motorist, and a sudden left turn which Patrolman Colby had not anticipated—so his motorcycle crashed into the car.

Arrested on an unsafe driving charge, the motorist pleaded guilty and was fined. The offense was noted on the back of his driver's license—but the license was neither revoked nor suspended.

Had Patrolman Colby been seriously injured—or killed—in the crash, an intensive drive against speeding on Mansfield streets might have resulted—possibly extending through as much as two weeks.

New Depot May Inspire Clean-Up

NOW that the Baltimore & Ohio railroad has completed and put into use its new passenger depot in Mansfield, it would not be surprising to find this improvement serving as an incentive for other perking up of appearances in that vicinity.

The neat new B. & O. depot, adequate to the passenger service needs of that railroad in Mansfield, will seem rather grotesquely out of place in its down-at-the-heel surroundings, unless steps are taken to raze or repair some of the dilapidated structures in that vicinity.

With Mulberry street merging into Springmill street at this point, and serving as a much-traveled thoroughfare, there is no apparent justification for the bad impression of Mansfield that is given from this approach—now that the B. & O. depot can be "pointed to with pride" instead of being viewed with sadness.

While the fall may not be regarded as an appropriate "clean-up and paint-up" time, there is no apparent excuse for delay in the B. & O. depot section.

Delay In Parking Meter Selection

DELAY in selection and installation of parking meters cannot be regarded as a particularly serious matter—not nearly so serious, in any event, as assurance that all suspicion of taint is to be removed from the meter transaction before final decision is made.

The action taken by Mayor Locke in rejecting all meter bids and a long list of new offers, coupled with intimations of "approach" by representatives of some of the meter companies, may lead to an airing of methods which will later prove beneficial to other cities contemplating the installation of parking meters as well as to Mansfield.

It was along this line that Mayor Locke said: "I have reason to believe that by calling for new proposals on the machines, the city may be able to obtain a better proposition."

Disregarding rumors of proposed [illegible] under bids to provide allowances for an "[illegible]" pressure groups urging selection of some particular [illegible] does appear that such methods are [illegible] and [illegible] the expenditure of public money [illegible] in earlier times and in larger cities [illegible]

It would seem that [illegible] and Safety Director Crafton are trying to [illegible] meter companies and their salesmen [illegible] is on the market for modern, efficient [illegible] at the lowest price consistent with [illegible] freed from any requirement [illegible] costs or palm-greasing.

Should Ex-Cons Be Allowed To Join the Army?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

AS A LAW MAKER or military authority I'm a good window washer. But when it comes to certain subjects, I may have a few good ideas—and even more practical experience than the boys who are working on the job.

Take, f'instance, this matter of allowing ex-convicts to join the army. Perhaps you didn't know it's taboo, but it is. Particularly now, in our big preparedness drive. After a lot of solemn meditation, the War Department has decided that it should—

"—direct its effort toward building the Army into a cohesive organization of right thinking men who can be depended upon in times of stress to display courage, fortitude and idealism of a high order. One of the strongest inducements held out to prospective recruits is the opportunity of associating with other young men of excellent character and good repute.

"The enlistment of men who have actually been convicted of felonies is expressly prohibited by Section 1118, revised statutes, and in furtherance of that statute Army regulations prescribe that persons who have been imprisoned under sentence of a civil court will not be accepted for enlistment. . . .

"The enlistment of persons on parole may not be considered, in view of the conflict of authority between the court exercising jurisdiction, and the military authorities charged by law with the control of the Army."

All of which sounds mighty conclusive. But I wonder if it really makes sense? Or plays the game the American way?

It happens that this column brings me in contact with a great many con's. I go with them through their trials, pull wires to see that they get a fair deal. In return they write to me from behind the bars and keep in touch when they return to normal life.

Now, mind you, I've no sloppy illusions about crime or criminals. I've never sent a strangler a bunch of sweet peas, and never will. But neither do I go to the other extreme and believe that every lawbreaker is an unnatural monster, different than other men. He may be, and usually is, a Tough Baby—but so are a lot of flute players. And after all, when did War become a game for Window Dressers?

As for "idealism" and "high thinking," I'll wager you'll find more of it in San Quentin or Sing Sing than in a hundred Uplift Societies. And the reason's plain—

NO MAN CAN APPRECIATE HEAVEN LIKE THE MAN WHO'S LIVING IN HELL.

NO MAN LOVES THE TRUTH AS MUCH AS THE FELLOW WHO'S PAYING FOR HIS LIES.

There are thousands of convicts and paroled men who are hopeless Mad Dogs. But the fact that a human being has served time behind bars does not prove that he's a permanent pain-in-the-neck to society, or is devoid of principles and patriotism.

INDEED IF IT WERE UP TO ME TO CHOOSE A PREPAREDNESS ARMY I'D DELIBERATELY PICK MANY AN EX-CON NOT ONLY FOR MY COUNTRY'S SAKE BUT ALSO FOR HIS OWN.

An army needs disciplined men—and the best living means do is to discipline rambunctious citizens. It also needs brave men who have been up against the works and won't squeal at pinpricks—and you can safely bet on 'Em! To supply [illegible] above all, an [illegible] men who are on their [illegible] to whom battle is a personal challenge and winning a matter of personal honor. And no one on earth can tell that place as well as an ex-con. You can't trust all of them, of course, any more than you can trust all poets, professors or columnists. But if a man has made a decent record in prison, you can safely bet he'll make good when he's out on his own with a big job to do—

FOR A MAN LIKE THAT ISN'T JUST FIGHTING FOR MONEY OR VICTORY. HE'S FIGHTING FOR THE THING THAT IS DEAREST TO US ALL—HIS SELF-RESPECT. HE'S FIGHTING TO WIN BACK THE PLACE AND PRIDE HE HAS FORFEITED, AND HE'LL DO IT WITH A FIRE AND DETERMINATION WHICH THE SAFE AND UNSCARRED MAN CAN NEVER KNOW.

There are lots of reasons for acting like a Right Guy. But the most urgent one is to make good with YOURSELF.

So if I were running things, I'd certainly give No. 8,936 an equal chance with any teacher's pet. And as for possible contamination from such a source, well, I've seen a lot of things more demoralizing to a young man than the lads from the rock pile. Doting mothers, for instance. Whiney wives. Torrid night spots. Conniving cuties. And even steady jobs where you never need worry. Any and all of these can turn a regular human being into a bum faster than a dozen gangsters.

So there's my plea for you fellows who haven't any other mouthpiece. As well as a few words for our America, who's apt, I fear, to tangle with a lot of grief and needs all the red-hot defenders she can get. I'd sure like to bring you together.

Music—Art Or Racket?

In his new capacity as president of the American Federation of Musicians, James Caesar Petrillo, former czar of the Musicians' Union in Chicago, is living up to all the implications of his middle name.

Under pressure from Petrillo, Victor has ceased making recordings of the work of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. The union head is not impressed at all by the fact that the Boston Symphony pays its members a higher annual salary than any other orchestra in the country. "If they are musicians," he is quoted as saying, "they belong to me."

Petrillo has also decreed that vocal and instrumental artists, like Flagstad, Tibbett, Heifetz and Spalding, must either join his union or be banned from public appearances. If these stars decide they do not want to "belong" to Petrillo, a big battle is ahead.

How do real musicians feel about being headed by a man who looks upon music not as an art but as a racket?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Smokeless Powder Output Small, Jersey Explosion Serious Blow

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Most tragic development in London, according to intelligence cables, is damage to the sewers and water supply.

In a city as densely populated as London this can be more devastating than the bombs themselves. There are already reports of some typhoid, though how much is not known.

Also the production of airplanes seems to have been pretty well disrupted. This is serious, because Hitler probably is not going to start the actual transportation of troops to England until the Royal Air Force is put out of commission. It is important to remember that Hitler had complete mastery of the air when he conquered France.

Note—The president recently received a cable from Ambassador Joe Kennedy, containing these cryptic words: "We're catching hell over here. —Joe."

Powder Shortage.

DESTRUCTION of the Kenvil, N. J., powder plant was a far more serious blow to national defense than anyone in high official circles wanted to admit.

It now leaves the United States with only two smokeless powder plants in the entire country—the duPont plant at Carney's Point, N. J. and the government-owned Picatinny Arsenal at Dover, N. J., not far from Kenvil. It produces only a very small amount of powder.

Real fact is that powder plants are slow and cumbersome to build, requiring a series of buildings in which the powder is gradually dried. Two new plants are being rushed to completion by the war department, but they will not be finished until next spring.

One of these is near Charlestown, Ind., and will be operated by the duPonts, though built by the government at a cost of $25,000,000. The other will be at Radford, Va., and will be operated by the Hercules Powder company, though built by the government at the same price.

How serious is the powder situation was illustrated by the fact that one day after the New Jersey explosion, the war department issued "speed-up" letters to both duPont and Hercules, whereby they are ordered to increase powder production from 200,000 pounds a day to 300,000 pounds a day in the Radford plant; and from 200,000 a day to 400,000 a day in the Charlestown, Ind., plant. This means that the plants will be bigger, but it does not mean they will be finished earlier.

Day after the New Jersey explosion, also, the war department sent a confidential memo to the White House on the seriousness of the powder situation.

Note—German intelligence agents unquestionably knew the exact capacity of American powder factories, and how limited our present production was—namely, 20,000,000 pounds a year. They must have known also that the destruction of one factory would throw the United States off its preparedness schedule more than any other single incident.

Merry-Go-Round.

THE state department is still trying to keep the muzzle on Mrs. "Daisy" Harriman, forthright minister to Norway. Apparently Mr. Hull fears she will tell what really happened there. . . . Copies of the New Republic's special edition on Wendell Willkie can't be bought in Chicago and some other cities. Willkie's boosters are reported to have bought them up. . . . Nelson Rockefeller, young, naive member of the National Defense Commission for Latin American affairs, is making molasses-like progress, is pretty green on Latin America. . . . It's a dizzy world in the capital. While Wayne Parrish, ardent Willkieite editor of American Aviation, is daily sizzling the administration and the Civil Aeronautics Authority, his blond wife, Frances Knight, lands herself a $5,600 a year publicity job in the Consumer's Division of the Defense Commission. Several years ago both Parrish and his wife were WPA workers.

No Excess Profits.

NOT since the days of the Hoover administration has there been such a concerted and successful tax lobby as that which has swarmed the halls of congress in an effort to gut the alleged excess profits bill.

Result is that the new tax bill is not an excess profits bill at all. At least two-thirds of it is an increase on corporation taxes, which doesn't even begin to take away big business profits on national defense orders. As a matter of fact, this flat tax makes it harder for the smaller firms to compete with the big ones.

Furthermore, the new tax bill will raise only a drop in the revenue bucket compared with what was expected of it. With some six billions of national defense voted at this session of congress, the new defense bill will be lucky if it nets one-third of a billion dollars.

Tobacco Lobbyist.

MOST potent personage—behind the scenes—in shaping the new tax bill was Clay Williams, able and amiable head of the Reynolds Tobacco company. Williams' influence results from his friendship with Representative "Muley" Bob Doughton, chairman of the house ways and means committee, who lives just one county away from Clay Williams in North Carolina.

It is Doughton's job, as chairman of the ways and means committee, to write the first draft of a tax bill, and in previous years he has backed up the treasury's recommendations almost 100 per cent.

This year, however, Clay Williams, who is also a pillar of the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers, came to Washington in the middle of the summer to camp beside his neighbor from North Carolina while the tax bill was being written.

So Bob Doughton this year wasn't quite what he used to be.

Senate Stripping.

DESPITE this, the tax bill as it came out of the house was a far more nearly genuine excess profits bill than when it came out of the finance committee of the senate. There, Pat Harrison and other elder statesmen stripped it of almost everything the treasury wanted, thereby causing Assistant Secretary of the Treasury John Sullivan to ask for the privilege of being heard by the committee. Harrison agreed—but wished he hadn't, for Sullivan gave the elder statesman a dressing down such as is seldom heard on Capitol Hill.

"This bill is a complete misnomer," Sullivan told the committee, among other things. "It is supposed to be an excess profits bill, but I find that less than one-third will come from war profits. This bill doesn't tax war profits, and I want the record to show that I don't want any part of it."

Afterward, the irate Pat Harrison sent for Sullivan' boss, Henry Morgenthau, and demanded if he knew about Sullivan's statement. Morgenthau replied that he did and had approved it.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Buddy De Sylva was wise when he elevated Betty Allen to the co-starring role in "DuBarry Was a Lady." Previously that post had been held by Ethel Merman, who has retired now to assume new chores in another De Sylva tune farrago, "Panama Hattie," which comes to Broadway in a little while.

All stars have understudies, people who are letter perfect in their cues and lines. Their function is to fill in when the star becomes temporarily indisposed. But all too often these talented and worthwhile people are ignored when a leading figure leaves the cast for good. The producers, short-sightedly we think, cast about for well known names, sometime with names in excess of their talents.

In this instance De Sylva turned thumbs down on the "new name" idea and justly rewarded a girl who for months has faithfully performed her chores as understudy to Miss Merman. She went on the other night and won herself a heartening round of applause in a part for which the well-liked Miss Merman had set a high standard.

DOING good work is not a new experience to Miss Allen, who comes from San Diego and who has been understudying stars on the road and on Broadway for ten years. This is her first real break. She was almost in tears when reporters interviewed her after her difficult first night performance.

"I can't believe it," she wailed. "At last I'm going to have a real speaking part on the stage, a part all my own."

Miss Allen was reminded that, after all, she had played important parts in such companies as "Of Thee I Sing" and "May Wine."

"But that was always on the road—never on Broadway," she said. "And playing the road without ever playing Broadway is like having a photograph of someone you like and not being able to see them. It's like seeing food without being permitted to touch it."

PEOPLE who invade Miss Allen's apartment in West 55th street are apt to be puzzled when they first get a load of the furniture. Mostly it is reminiscent of the seashore—a beach table, a beach umbrella, folding beach chairs—almost everything a vacationer might need except a pail, shovel and bottle of sun-tan oil.

"Well," explains Miss Allen defensively, "I've always wanted a terrace apartment, and this is it. That is, it's a sort of understudy to a real terrace apartment, when I get one."

We don't know whether this dream is ever to be realized, but we can tell you that "DuBarry" is lucky to have a person like Miss Allen hand-made for the job. This is a screwy, improbable sort of musical. Bert Lahr is the male star. He plays the part of a befuddled washroom attendant who accidentally gives himself a Micky Finn and dreams he is the king of France. It's rough, riotous, risque comedy, and Broadway likes it. In a few weeks it will go into its second year.

This Is Ohio

OHIO stands first among states in the value of machine shop products. It is followed in order by Illinois, Pennsylvania, New York and Michigan, according to the 1937 United States census of manufactures.

During that year 486 machine shops in the state turned out products valued at $254,000,000 and employed more than 35,000 persons. Included in these figures were manufacturers of almost every conceivable type of mechanical device.

A Farmer's Diary

Blessed Monotony

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

WHEN PEOPLE say to me, "But doesn't the farm get monotonous?" I tell them, "Sure, it does."

There are times and seasons, at any kind of work, that please a worker more than other times and seasons. The daily routine of milking cows, feeding pigs, gathering eggs and cutting firewood is, no doubt, fully as wearing as working an eight-hour shift in a shop, attending school from 8 to 4, or doing any one of a thousand kinds of regular toil. But who would like an enforced vacation? Which is happier, the busy man, or he with too much idle time on hands?

There is that about monotony that soothes and reassures. There is, in mosaic art, often a subdued background from which the main theme of the picture emerges only after study, but which is effective, even though only partially understood. Such is the monotony of nature.

The ebb and flow of the tides; the waxing and waning of the moon; the daily miracle of day and night, the seasonal tasks of seeding and growth and harvest; the restfulness of winter dormancy. Around the day, around the year, around the lifetime of a man go marching oft repeated tasks, thoughts and experiences. History's pages repeat their stories many times with change of names and details for different centuries. Compared with the monotony of human doings, that of nature is a delightful, sure antidote.

It takes the strength of mighty birds, the wideness of open sky, the grandeur of stars to make a lovable place for the human mind. It takes the persistence of trickling rivers, the enduring revelations of age-old, geologic rocks, the mysteries of lightning and of life itself to inspire man's awe of a Power greater than his own.

It takes work with a man's body and mind—work with a man's feet in the good earth, to give value to everything else. Work is monotonous—and blessed. At any job, his ultimate aim is what inspires a worker or discourages him. Weariness and sweat are not to be shunned, nor merely endured, but to be enjoyed, in a worthy cause.

The very variety of nature is monotonous. No two trees alike, no two trails, no two living beings. Every year another autumn, different and the same. Every winter another medley of storm and sleet and snow—of long cozy evenings and dormant life in field and of rest. What would we do without the blessing of monotony?

JOINT LUNCHEON HELD AT GALION CLUB HOUSE

Olentangy Chapter, D. A. R., Entertains Jared Mansfield, Mary Washington Groups From Town Yesterday.

THE SEASON of the Daughters of the American Revolution was opened yesterday with a luncheon at the Galion Country club when Olentangy chapter of the neighboring community entertained members of the Jared Mansfield and the Mary Washington chapters of Mansfield. There were 61 seated at tables centered with purple and white asters.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Eva Talbott, chaplain, and the routine patriotic opening followed.

Mrs. B. J. Heiser, who was program chairman, introduced Robert Moulton, Galion, Democratic candidate for state representative, who gave an address in observance of the 153rd anniversary of Constitution day.

The next meeting, Oct. 15, will be at the home of Mrs. Robert Black on West Second street.

Shopping Around...

With MARIANNE

IN SPITE of what the man of your house might have to say about women being the most style-conscious creatures, I'll wager you'll hear him discussing iridescent cloth, ticket pockets and needled edges this fall, and he'll probably be pretty choosey about his new suit. . . . Speaking of suits for men, cordovan brown is highest on the color chart (it may be plain, striped, a diagonal weave or tweed), followed close behind by blue (in off-shades of green and gray rather than navy or midnight tones) and then the iridescent materials, which are a blend of two colors. . . . Double-breasted and three-button single-breasted style coats are being featured, and that ticket pocket I mentioned is a small one just above the regular pocket in the right side of the coat.... Many of the plain colored suits have hand-needled edges around the lapels and down the front for trim. . . . Oh yes, and the fabrics are cheviots, worsteds, coverts and tweeds.

Marianne

Features of the gentlemen's fall overcoats or topcoats are that most of them are single-breasted with either military or lapel collars. . . . They have full, swagger backs and set-in sleeves. Some are lined with bright plaid wool, and a number of overcoats have zipper wool linings, which can be removed during warmer weather to transform the garment into a topcoat. . . . Gabardine, camel's hair, covert cloth and tweeds all make good-looking coats, with brown and tan leading the color field here again, although blue, blue-gray and iridescent tones also are popular.

* * *

As for hats, many of them have welt brims, and most all of them have soft crowns, and they're trimmed with tailored silk bands (either pleated or tri-colored). . . . Velvet finished felt is new, and needled edges and bands are shown too.

* * *

TO TURN now to the ladies, one of the leading women make-up manufacturers has just introduced a new make-up shade, "schoolhouse red," which is as bright and cheerful against autumn backgrounds as those little red schoolhouses that still dot the countryside. . . . It brings nostalgic memories of rosy cheeked schoolgirls in starched pinafores and accents the new simple silhouettes and the schoolgirl off-the-face hats. . . . It is a true red in the American tradition (with no vestige of blue or yellow) and is a perfect match to the brilliant color flashing through almost every one of the newly important American collections. . . . It can be purchased in cream rouge and lipstick and is to be worn with a new soft, warm shade of powder, rose beige. . . . A new feature of the lipstick case is that there is a place in the top for a drop of your favorite perfume, so as to lend a pleasing fragrance to your purse.

And while we're talking about your purse, you'll find you can keep it in apple pie order if you put your loose belongings in one of those new purse kits. . . . They're made of moire taffeta, and each one is fitted with an attractive compact and comb for your convenience. . . . If you collect penguins or know someone who does, or if you're just looking for something to lend a perky note to your dressing table, you'll be delighted with Mr. and Mrs. Penguin, that one of the downtown stores is showing now. . . . Mr. sports a wing-collar, while Mrs. wears a pastel satin ribbon tied round her neck and has a fluffy feather on her head. . . . They're both filled with velour swirls for you or your guests to apply face powder with.

Lockets are popular jewelry notes for fall, and some have black and white cameo heads mounted on mother-of-pearl, while others feature a cloisonne design on a background of seed pearls. . . . Most of these have room for two pictures, while one style (called the family album) has places for six pictures. . . . The new pink gold has been combined with silver to make attractive jewelry for fall in pins and bracelets, and some of the prettiest styles are shaped like cornucopias, filled with tiny pearls.
